

Abstract of the Disclosure

In an information processing unit with key controlled protection, since it takes a long time to fetch a storage key from key storage, an instruction and computation unit of CPU receives an unchecked data from a memory control unit of CPU, and then a transferred storage key is checked.